When the paragraph having been reached in regard to the removal of the northern band of Cheyvennes to a permanent settlement together upon one of the existing reservations in South Dakota, Wyoming or Montana, a motion was made by Pettigrew to strike out South Dakota. He said there were already 25,000 Indians in that State, and no more were wanted.

The House bill for the disposal of the Fort Ellis Military Reservation under the homestead law was passed (with the amendment.)

The House bill granting certain lands to Miles City, Mont., for a public park, was passed. Adjourned. IN THE HOUSE.

Washington, July 22d.—Immediately after reading the journal voting began on the original package bill. The first vote was on Adams' substitute defining original package. Lost—33

The House then proceeded to vote on the House substitute for the Senate bill.

The following is the House measure: That whenever any article of commerce is imported into any State from any other State, Territory or foreign nation, and there held or offered for sale, the sale shall be subject to the laws of such State; provided, no discrimination shall be made by any State in favor of its citizens against those State; provided, no discrimination shall be made by any State in favor of its citizens against those of other States or Territories in respect to the sale of any article of commerce, nor in favor of its own products against those of a like charac-ter produced in other States or Territories; ner shall the transportation of commerce through any State be obstructed, except in the neces-sary enforcement of the health laws of such State."

As the vote progressed it was evident that the result was very doubtful and great interest was manifested. At the end of the first call the affirmative had a majority of one. At the end of the second call the majority had neither in-creased nor diminished. Then came a change of votes. Fully two dozen changes were made, and in the alterations the affirmative came out triumphant, the vote being announced as ayes 09, noes 94.

E. B. Taylor of Ohio, Chairman of the Judici-ary Committee, opened the debate with a speech in favor of the bill as one in whose preparation in favor of the bill as one in whose preparation no pains has been spared to make it just. He opposed the voluntary bankruptcy bill framed by the majority, as favorable to creditor only. Culbertson of Texas opposed the bill. In its general features and scope the bill is not materially different from the Lowell bill of the former Congress, and from the Act of 1867, against the latter of which public sentiment became strong. The Senate, in 1878, finally acceded to the third request of the House that it be repealed.

Culbertson said he could not understand why Culbertson said he could not understand why there should be such anxiety on the part of the money and manufacturing interests for the passage of this measure, unless it was that the shadow of legislation of this Congress had been cast over them with the ;McKinley bill, absorbing the earnings of the people in order to enrich the manufacturers; with the silver bill, which lodged in the Secretary of the Treasury (always dominated by Wall street) power to demonetize silver after one year; with the election bill, which struck down at one fell blow the unsurpassed prosperity of the South, which had arisen from the ashes of the great war. He (Buchanan) was getting tired of insinuations of this kind. Continuing, Buchanan supported the measure, contending that it was demanded by the people. There was nothing political or sectional in it. ### POLITICAL POINTERS.

THE COUNTRY DELEGATES' CAUCUS AT ELK GROVE YESTERDAY.

Offices-Resolutions Indorsing Senator Stanford.

The near approach of the County Convention and the result of the recent primary election have stirred up the fire under the Republican kettle, and the politcal porridge is fairly bubbling over. The Convention will be held to-morrow evening in the Clunie Opera House, and the candidates for places on the ticket are doing some very lively work among the delegates chosen to that body.

The meeting was called to order by P. R. The first business brought before the meeting was the presentation of the following resolutions, offered by Mr. Beckley: Resolved, That the purposes of this meeting are Resolved, That the purposes of this meeting are for the Republican county delegates to get together for consultation, and decide upon some plan whereby they can act unitedly and in harmony, and for the best interests of the Republican party of Sacramento county, and to secure a fair and equitable representation of country candidates 1 pon the county ticket; also, to secure a better representation of delegates in the next County Convention than was given to the country by the resolutions passed by the County Convention of July 26, 1888. And be it further Resolved, That this meeting is not in the interest or indorsement of any particular candidate est or indorsement of any particular candidate or for any particular office, but only for the

The resolutions were adopted. Delegate Loydal, of Oak Hall, then of-fered the following, which are the same resolutions adopted at the Elk Grove meeting two years ago:

Whereas, The interests of that part of Sacramento county known as "the country" have been repeatedly ignored by the city in the matter of cnosing of candidates for the various offices of the county; and whereas, we believe that harmony is necessary to the success of the Republican party of Sacramento county, and that in no other way, in our judgment, can complete harmony prevail than by allowing the county a fair representation upon the county ticket; therefore, be it

THE COUNTRY VS. THE CITY.

Discussion by Supervisors Over There was a pretty lively debate in the County Board of Equalization yesterday between Messrs. Tebbets and Bates (city members) on the one side, and Mr. Greer, a country member, who was backed up by Chairman Ross, also a country member. The discussion was precipitated by the application of some country taxpayer for a reduction in the assessment on his property. There are now about 120 applications before the Board for reduced assessments, most of which have been made by residents of the southern portion of the county, who claim that a large portion of their land was rendered useless for this year by the heavy rains and freshets of last winter The Assessor, it is claimed by the city members of the Board, had already made reductions, amounting to about three-quarters of a million dollars, on country property, and they thought it about time to do a little talking on the subject in justice to taxpayers in the city and out on the high lands. The discussion was about as hot in its nature as the rays of the July sun that beat down upon the people outside the Boardroom, the country members championing the cause of their constituents as stoutly as did the city members. Chairman Ross (who has no gavel) nearly broke his fists pounding on his desk to enforce his de-mands for order, when he thought that orators Bates and Tebbets were overstepping the bounds of parliamentary usages, at which these gentlemen seriously de-

The debate was finally brought to a close by some member proposing a trip about town to personally examine properties on which reductions had been asked. Later in the week the members of the Board will visit the river and island ranches and endeavor to form an idea as to the merit of the large reductions asked for in that portion of the county.

Superintendent of Schools Albert Hart ad-dressed the graduates with feeling, giving them good advice and earnest counsel. He closed by delivering to each of the graduates their diplomas admitting them to the Bishop A. Grant, of Texas, then addressed the school in a most interesting manner, and held the attention of the scholars well, J. A. Woodson spoke next, and related to the children a parable intended to impress them with a sense of duty of obedience and care in the formation of habits. Rev. Mr. Pedway made the closing address, on the love of knowledge and the getting of understanding. The school singing was greatly superior to that of any classes of previous years. This was due to the fact that for a month Miss Jones has had the use of a piano in teaching the children school songs, Mrs. E. B. Crocker kindly paying for the rent of the instrument. It is a shame that all these years this school has had no musical instrument. It is greatly needed as a means to good discipline, and aids in the teaching of school songs, the practice of which rests and delight the little ones. The
